

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	9
CHAPTER 1. SPECIAL LANGUAGES AND REGISTERS AS DIMENSIONS OF LINGUISTIC VARIATION	15
1.1. Introduction	15
1.2. The concept of special language	16
1.2.1. Definitions	16
1.2.2. Features of special languages	18
1.3. Register theory	20
1.3.1. Definitions	20
1.3.2. Related concepts	23
1.3.3. Situational characteristics of registers	27
1.3.4. Linguistic characteristics of registers and their functional interpretation	32
1.3.5. Register typologies	35
1.4. Conclusion	36
CHAPTER 2. FOOTBALL LANGUAGE – A COLLECTION OF VARIETIES ...	38
2.1. Sports language	38
2.2. The status of football language	41
2.3. Football language varieties	46
2.3.1. The language of football rules and regulations	46
2.3.2. The language of the science of football	47
2.3.3. The language of football players and coaches	48
2.3.4. The language of match officials (referees and their assistants)	57
2.3.5. The language of radio football programs	58
2.3.6. The language of football fans	60
2.4. Conclusion	62

CHAPTER 3. FOOTBALL MATCH REPORTS	64
3.1. Introduction	64
3.2. Situational characteristics of match reports	66
3.3. FMRs corpora	70
3.4. Discourse features	72
3.4.1. Headlines	72
3.4.2. Introductory paragraphs – leads	76
3.4.3. The body	79
3.5. Quantitative and qualitative analysis of selected FMR linguistic features	88
3.6. Conclusion	98
 CHAPTER 4. LIVE TELEVISION FOOTBALL COMMENTARY	 100
4.1. Introduction	100
4.2. The situational characteristics of LTFC	102
4.3. LTFC corpora	106
4.4. Unitization of spoken language. Transcription conventions	108
4.5. Discourse features	110
4.5.1. Functions of utterances	111
4.5.2. Interaction between commentators	117
4.5.3. Partisanship vs. neutrality	120
4.5.4. Dysfluency	122
4.6. Quantitative and qualitative analysis of selected LTFC linguistic features	124
4.7. Conclusion	135
 CHAPTER 5. ONLINE WRITTEN FOOTBALL COMMENTARY	 137
5.1. Introduction	137
5.2. The situational characteristics of OWFC	140
5.3. OWFC corpora	143
5.4. Discourse features	146
5.4.1. Functions of utterances	146
5.4.2. Partisanship vs. neutrality	150
5.4.3. Interactiveness and heteroglossia	151
5.4.4. Features of orality	152
5.5. Quantitative and qualitative analysis of selected OWFC linguistic features	154
5.6. Conclusion	159
 CHAPTER 6. FOOTBALL TERMINOLOGY AND METAPHORS	 162
6.1. Football terminology	162
6.1.1. Analysis of selected basic football terms	162
6.1.2. English vs. Polish football terminology	167

6.2. Metaphors in football language	168
6.2.1. Theoretical background	168
6.2.2. Football match conceptualization	172
6.2.3. Other conceptual metaphors in football reporting	179
6.3. Conclusion	184
CONCLUSION	186
REFERENCES	189
JĘZYK PIŁKI NOŻNEJ - ANGIELSKO-POLSKIE STUDIUM PORÓWNAW- CZE (Streszczenie)	199